

SEEDS Presents: Edible Yards

Tuesday, March 29 2016 from 7 to 9 PM at the Park Street Complex, Park Street, Honesdale

SEEDS kicks off its 2016 education series with a free forum on Edible Yards.

Learn how to grow healthy food while becoming more self-reliant and creating a bio-diverse environment for a healthy planet.

Several expert panelists will share their tips and tricks on topics including raising chickens, foraging, growing fruit trees, beekeeping, and much more. In addition, members from the Audubon Society and Master Gardeners will be part of this informative event with plenty of time for Q & A.

No space? No problem! Learn about Honesdale's Community Garden that provides plots for residents.

SEEDS will also be hosting a FREE SEED SWAP. Bring seeds you've collected from your own garden or extra seeds you've purchased, and share with others.

Come and participate in this fun and informative evening.

Baked goods and light refreshments will be served. There will also be door prizes.

SEEDS (Sustainable Energy Education and Development Support) is a non-profit organization that promotes energy efficiency, renewable energy and sustainable living.

Visit www.seedsgroup.net to join our newsletter list to be notified of all our upcoming free forums.

SEEDS • 1030 Main Street • 2nd floor of the Cooperage • Honesdale, PA 18431 • (570) 245-1256